Hoopeston man named case note editor of ISU Law Journal

Brian Manion of Hoopeston has been selected as the Case Note and Comment editor of the Southern Illinois Law Journal for the 2003-04 academic year. His responsibilities will include selecting and editing all articles submitted by top students at the law school for publication in the law journal.

Manion is in his first year of law school and has authored an extensive article, Damages Recoverable in Personal Injury Cases, which will appear in the next issue of the Southern Illinois Law Journal. He has been on the dean's list at the college of law and recently received the law school's agricultural scholarship.

Shower anyone?

A hydrant on North Chicago St. in Rossville is barely visible as it spews water Sunday night. The hydrant was open to drain the village water tower which is going to be repainted and repaired. The work is expected to be completed in about two weeks.

Manion graduated from Hoopeston Area High School in 1997 and received his bachelor's degree in finance from the University of Illinois in 2001.

He will work as a research assistant for the Hoopeston and Danville law firm of Manion, Devens, McFetridge, Spiros & Schum, Ltd., this summer and he plans to return to Vermilion County to practice law after graduation and licensure next year.

Manion is the son of Paul and Bonnie Manion of rural Hoopeston and husband of the former Ingrid Barracks, also of Hoopeston.

Police News

A girl's Roadmaster bicycle was taken from a back yard in the 400 block of North Seventh Ave. The theft was reported Sunday.

Jeff H. Chandler, 26, of 421 N. Ninth Ave., was arrested at 1:30 a.m. Monday at Parkview Court on a charge of aggravated domestic battery.

The arrest was made on a complaint from a 23year-old Hoopeston woman who alleged Chandler hit her several times with his fists and a cell phone.

The woman was treated and released from Hoopeston Community Memorial Hospital.

Chandler was taken to the Public Safety Building in Danville.
