Up on the roof

A crane lifts roofing material on top of the Hoopeston Foods warehouse between Penn and Washington. The material was unloaded Monday. The company had ordered material to fix the roof a few months ago, said plant manager Ted Goodner, but building supplies are being routed to the Gulf area for hurricane repairs. The structure will be re-roofed when temperatures are a little warmer, Goodner said.

on ice into a parked 1996 Ford truck owned by Robert Inman of rural Hoopeston.

Two people were arrested after an incident at 6:12 p.m. Monday in a cornfield.

Officers saw a blue Ford driving recklessly in a cornfield. The vehicle left the field, traveled west on Young from North Sixth Ave. for approximately two blocks before turning north off Young into a yard. Three people left the vehicle and ran to a residence, leaving the vehicle running, police said.

Arrested were Scott Van Hagen, 33, of #33 Parkview Court and Victoriano Martinez, 20, of 859 E. Seminary.

Each was charged with illegal possession of cannabis, under 2.5 grams and illegal transportation of alcohol. Both were released on notices to appear.

A motorcycle reported stolen Dec. 6 was found Tuesday in Monticello, Ind., at the owner's son's home.

13 years and junior high cross country for four years. Anvick has been actively involved with the Appalachian Service Project through the church for the past 14 years. He has been one of the drivers, volunteers and supervisors assigned to work with senior high youth to improve houses of indigent families in Kentucky and Tennessee.

He replaces Al Kuhles, who is leaving after four and a half years with the agency. Al has been a dedicated volunteer over the years, in addition to driving the van. He said he is unsure of future plans but is interested in serving as a substitute or volunteer whenever needed.
