Humane officer responds about incident

In response to Ms. Polson's article about a dog being killed over Memorial Day weekend...

Where was the owner? And why was the dog loose in the first place? Did you try and help out? I guess it's easier to complain than it is to get involved.

If you must know where I was, I happened to have family that lives out of town. I was honoring an American Hero, my nephew who was killed in Iraq. There was a charity music jam, "Jeffro Jam II," which raises money for education. Also, a ceremony for "Lest They Be Forgotten." His name is the first name on. You can thank the young men and women who paid the ultimate price so you can own a home and enjoy the freedoms you have.

I suggest that before you judge someone or complain, you get the facts first.

There are more important things in life.

Thank you for helping duck

I would just like to say a big "Thank You" to all involved in helping the mother duck get the lure and line off of her foot. We were so happy to see her without her leg all tangled up, and we were finally able to breathe a sigh of relief. Thanks again so much for all your efforts. I heard it was quite an affair!
