DACC instructor to present highlights of book at library

Rossville resident Ryan Stone will speak and share highlights from his book, "Best Road Yet," at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 26, at Hoopeston Public Library.

Stone, an instructor at Danville Area Community College, recently published the collection of short stories which draw from his childhood experiences living in the southern Missouri Ozarks.

The story series examines the depth of human experience and emotional suffering plaguing small town American. The characters are people who struggle to know and define themselves, as well as to determine the best road on which to travel.

Stone spent much of his youth in Licking, Mo. He published his first short story in 1999 and has been revising and developing the stories for "Best Road Yet" since that time.

He received his bachelor's degree from the University of Central Missouri and his master of fine arts from the University of Missouri-St. Louis. An instructor at DACC since 2006, stone also serves as faculty advisor for the college's student literary publication.

Hoopeston Public Library is located at 110 N. Fourth St., Hoopeston. For information, call (217) 283-6711.

We thought of you with love today
 but that is nothing new.
 We thought about you yesterday
 and days before that, too.
 We think of you in Silence,
 We often speak your name.
 Now all we have is memories
 and your picture in a frame.
 Your memory is our Keepsake with which we'll never part.
 God has you in his keeping,
 We have you in our hearts.

 Love & miss you,
