Group gets donation to award college-bound wrestlers

The governing board of a local scholarship program aims to provide financial help to Hoopeston Area wrestlers who plan to attend a four-year college.

The board overseeing the Dan Magee Memorial Wrestling Tournament are using funds from the tournament, as well as other donations, to provide scholarships, said Jed Rayls, spokesman for the organization.

The board plans to offer a $500 scholarship for each of the four years a Hoopeston Area wrestler attends the four-year institution. "We're going to follow them all the way through college," Rayls said. "Once we get going, we'll have four people."

There is no limit on students' majors, he added.

The scholarship and tournament are named for former Hoopeston wrestler Dan Magee, who died more than 20 years ago.

At Monday's awards night at Hoopeston Area High School, Rayls presented this year's scholarship to Ethan Linder.
