Kids can become a youth citizen scientist at Kennekuk

Birds, habitat, migration to be studied

Youth ages 9-15 are invited to register for an exciting bird-focused program at the Kennekuk County Park Environmental Education Center. The program is provided by Vermilion County 4-H Youth Development and University of Illinois Extension Master Naturalists and will take place on October 17 from 10 a.m.-noon.

Participants can register by calling the University of Illinois Extension Office at 217.442.8615 or online at <https://web.extension.illinois.edu/registration/?registrationid=13042>.

Learning about birds and migration can connect participants to other places, people, cultures, and habitats throughout the world.

Through activities developed by The Cornell Lab of Ornithology Habitat Connections program, partici-

CRIS to help those new to Medicare navigate changes

Are you ready for Medicare? There are lots of changes coming this year in the Medicare enrollment process.

The Senior Information Services (SIS) department of the CRIS Healthy-Aging Center will host an event to help people at or near retirement age or who have been on disability for more than two years.

Caseworkers will be available on October 7 at the CRIS office at 309 N. Franklin, Danville from 8 a.m.-4 p.m. Staff will questions about Medicare enrollment and help you through the process.

No appointment is necessary on October 7. Those who cannot attend then may call CRIS, (217) 443-2999, to schedule an appointment from 8 a.m.-4 p.m. any weekday.

pants will connect with each other through their conversations on birds, become curious investigators in their local habitat, become a citizen scientist and have professional scientist research the data they collect, and make a difference in their local environment.

The two-hour program will consist of indoor and outdoor lessons taught by University of Illinois Extension Vermilion County Master Naturalist volunteers. Youth will have the opportunity to examine bird habitats, learn why habitats are important, and see how we can alter bird habitats in a positive way. Participants will play games to learn about bird migration and create a bird feeder from recycled materials.

Every county in Illinois has a 4-H program operated through University of Illinois Extension. Members of 4-H engage in hands-on activities and projects that promote citizenship, leadership, and life skills and are assisted by more than 13,000 volunteer adult leaders. 4-H club membership is open to youth ages 8 to 18.

Vermilion County 4-H has more than 260 members. Learn more about 4-H in Vermilion County by calling Kristin Block at 217-442-8615 or by visiting <http://web.extension.illinois.edu/cfiv/vermilion4h/>.

The mission of University of Illinois Extension is to provide practical education to help people, businesses and communities solve problems, develop skills and build a better future.

University of Illinois Extension provides equal opportunities in programs and employment. University of Illinois Extension provides equal opportunities in programs and employment.

Those who need a reasonable accommodation to participate, please contact the Extension Office at 217-442-8615.

Carla M. Bacon, 39, of Hoopeston, was arrested after an incident at 5:57 p.m. Tuesday in the 400 block of West Penn. She was charged with trespassing/disorderly conduct on a complaint from a 65-year-old Hoopeston man who alleged Bacon entered his home after she was told to leave the property. Bacon was released on a notice to appear in Hoopeston City Court.

Gage Wilson, 23, of Hoopeston, was arrested after police were called at 10:38 p.m. Tuesday about a strange vehicle in a yard at Sixth Ave. and Main. Police located the vehicle and performed a traffic stop, which resulted in Wilson facing preliminary charges of operating a vehicle with registration suspending, driving while license revoked, operating an uninsured motor vehicle and improper lane usage.

Wilson was released on notices to appear in Vermilion County traffic court.
