Happy New year here we come!

By BERTHA PARSONS

Let's welcome the New Year, full of things that have never been. So Happy New Year! Here we come!

When you wish someone Happy New Year, do you really mean "Happy"? I'd like to believe so. I'm just focused on happiness starting now. Don't tell me that is impossible! I won't believe you. We can make our own happiness. I have the perfect recipe for all of us in 2017. We start with:

1 C of Faith. We all want something to believe in. It gives us hope and a desire to fulfill our dreams.

1 C Trust. It is not easy to trust and 1 Cup is a lot of trust. We need to put our confidence in our government, city officials, our doctor and many others. With trust we can't control every action, we just look forward to the best being done.

4 T Optimism. We want confidence in decisions we make, trust that happiness is always near, we want to hope for the best.

6 T of Compassion. Let's be more tolerant of our family and friends. Show more compassion for all we meet.

3 T Humility. We should be more humble about what we do, more respectful and polite to everyone in our lives.

2 T Humor. We should all laugh more. Most everything I do nowadays is funny, ask my grandsons! Finding joy, good will and even being silly will lead you to happiness. It works for me.

7 T Charity. Doing good for others. One act of kindness can make a huge difference in someone's life. For me, every single time I help someone, it helps me more.

6 T Patience. My oldest son was helping me as we sat by the computer and I was anxious to get on with it. He said, "Mom, you have no patience." Well I hate to tell you, that's the truth. So, I need a double dose of patience. I'm really going to work on calmness and composure. Maybe by July you could ask my husband how I'm doing?

Combine all ingredients, mix well with love and laughter, serve daily to all.
