Library schedules hands-on puppet workshop

The young - and the young at heart - are invited to participate in a workshop for an age-old activity.

The Hoopeston Public Library is offering a puppet workshop from 10-11:30 a.m. Saturday, April 16. To register for the workshop, call the library at 283-6711.

The workshop will be taught by Ginger Lozar, on the Arts-In-Education roster of the Illinois Arts Council. Lozar has conducted school residencies, teacher workshops and professional entertaining.

Lozar has a Master of Arts in oral interpretation

Maple School to host workshop

Parents of Maple School students could have nearly perfect children if they attend a seminar sponsored by the Center for Children's Services and the school's Parent-Teacher Organization.

"Winning the Whining War and Other Skirmishes" will be held at 6:30 p.m. April 11 and 18 at the school, said school principal Chris Newman.

A description of the program promises it will "put an end to whining, tantrums, dawdling, band language, name-calling, teasing, spitting, biting, talking back, interrupting, complaining, sulking, fighting and lying and all those other behaviors that drive you crazy."

The seminar, strictly for Maple parents, is free, Newman said. Sandwiches, drinks and babysitting will be provided.

The event is being held to help parents deal with their children. "We'll try to touch those people who want to be touched," Newman said.

of literature and a Bachelor of Art in speech education. She and her "Fortune Cookie Theater" reside in Champaign.

Head librarian Lou Graham hopes those interested in puppets will not only attend the workshop but also volunteer to help with the library's puppet theater.

Both the wooden puppet theater and Lozar's workshop are made possible by a grant from the Oldsmobile Ballon Classic Illinois, Graham said.

Locals can get kick out of sports at local soccer match Sunday

A Hoopeston soccer team will face off against a Chicago-area team Sunday afternoon.

Gary Nelson's team of 12- to 14-year-olds will square off against a similar team, Johnsbury White Lightning, near Chicago, according to fellow coach Jim Klaber.

The match will begin at 12:45 p.m. at Honeywell Grade School, and will last approximately one hour.

Klaber said he expects the match to be an exciting one. "I'm sure (White Lightning) is going to be tough," he said. "It will be an awesome game."

This is the first time a Hoopeston team has faced competition from the Chicago area, but more may be scheduled. Klaber said plans are underway to have his team face a Chicago team in a week or two.

Win or lose, Hoopeston's team members will celebrate after the game with pizza supplied by FMC.
