New director named for Hoopeston Multi Agency

A new director has been named for the Hoopeston Multi Agency Service Center.

Jeanne Lotz will replace Joyce Shore, director for the past five years.

Shore is leaving the Multi Agency to move to Colorado with her husband, Gary.

Lotz, office manager of the Hoopeston Chamber of Commerce for the past three and a half years, is looking forward to her new position.

"It's going to be a challenging position, and I was looking for a new challenge," she said.

Lotz said the public relations aspect of the new job will be enjoyable, while learning everything else will be challenging.

Shore will work with Lotz for the next several weeks, training her and introducing her to those in agencies which work with and fund the Multi Agency, said Carol Flint, Multi Agency board president.

Flint had praise for both the outgoing and incoming directors.

Flint spoke of Shore's ability to find funding for the agency. "Joyce picked up the ball and ran with it," Flint said. "There's no other way to put it."

Shore was also responsible for procuring a grant which paid for a recently-delivered van for the agency's transportation program. "That happened because of Joyce's four-year persistence trying to get somebody to fund the van," Flint said.

Beside Shore's ability to keep the agency operating by finding available grants, Flint said Shore "brought professionalism into the office, and that's an important face the Multi Agency needed to have."

When Shore told the board she would be leaving, "we hated to see that happen," Flint said, "but we're thankful we had someone like Jeanne to step in behind her."

Lotz was one of 12 applicants for the position, and was unanimously chosen by the board because of her "bubbly personality," willingness to work hard and dedication, Flint said. "We felt confident she had what we needed."

Lotz will spend the next few weeks training with Shore, who has not set an official resignation date, Flint said, adding "the more training Joyce can give Jeanne, the better Jeanne's going to be."

The decision to leave the Chamber was not an easy one for Lotz to make. "I love my job here, I really do," she said. "But I felt it was time to move on. It's going to be like losing part of my family."

Chamber of Commerce may have new manager

The Hoopeston Chamber of Commerce may have a new office manager.

Chamber president Rod Burkett said yesterday that the position has been offered to an unidentified person, who was expected to make a decision Thursday night.

The new manager will replace Jeanne Lotz, who will be missed. "We're sorry to see her go, but on the other hand, we wish her well," he said. "We hate to fill her shoes, but I think the Multi Agency Service Center is getting a good person."

Burkett said Lotz not only performed her job, but "took the overall betterment of the Chamber to heart."

Suspects plead not guilty in one of county's biggest busts

Two of three men arrested in one of the county's largest drug busts pleaded not guilty to drug trafficking charges.

Guadalupe Martinez, Jr., 26, of Rankin, and Reynaldo Flores, 49, of Alamo, Tex., pleaded not guilty in federal court last week to conspiracy to deliver more than 100 grams of marijuana.

A third man, Pablo C. Carr, 36, of Edinburg, Tex., did not attend the hearing allegedly due to problems traveling from Texas to Danville. He is scheduled to be arraigned this week. Details of that arraignment were not available at press time.

A trial for Flores and Martinez is expected to begin Aug. 2.

The men were charged after they were arrested May 30 in Hoopeston.

Police seized over 500 pounds of marijuana, with an estimated street value of more than $750,000. Also seized were a 1992 Chevrolet Blazer and $10,908 in cash.
