Lee E. Wallace, 913 E. McCracken, reported Thursday that someone took her son's 26-inch Huff 10-speed from Hoopeston Area Junior High School.

Rod Burkett, 519 W. Elm, reported Friday that some time over the past two weeks someone took Sweetcorn Festival flags from the American Legion, Coffee Cup, Monical's Arends Brothers, Yergler Jewelry and the Dairy Queen.

Burkett, president of the Hoopeston Chamber of Commerce, said that organization is offering a $50 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible.

Francis Anderson, #9, Rosewood Terrace, reported Friday that someone broke into a storage shed, taking a tool box containing numerous tools.

Bradley T. Garrison, 20, of 409 N. Third St., was ticketed for failure to yield at a stop intersection following an accident at 12:15 a.m. Saturday.

According to police reports, Garrison failed to yield at the intersection of South Second Ave. and West Penn.

His 1980 Ford Mustang struck a 1985 Buick Riviera driven by Robert R. Butterworth, route 1, Rossville.

Leo W. Baugh, 423 W. Maple, reported Saturday that someone dented the front fender and wrote obscenities on the trunk of his 1993 Ford Taurus while it was parked at his residence.

Roy Goodrum, 802 S. Fourth St., reported Saturday that someone using spray paint painted profanity and names on his fence.

Jeff W. Wise, 615 S. Second Ave., reported Saturday that someone threw a beer bottle at the window of his 1992 Chevrolet S-10 pickup truck while it was parked at his residence.

Wanda S. Storm, 706 S. Fourth St., reported Saturday that someone took two bicycles from her residence. One is a girl's Columbian bike, the other a 26-inch girl's Huff.

Mandi Hardcastle, 905 E. McCracken, reported Saturday that someone took her purse from her car while the car was parked at 725 E. Seminary.

Richard F. Harrell, 629 W. Chestnut, reported Sunday that someone took a stereo and two speakers from his 1977 Chevrolet while it was parked in his back yard.

Harrell also reported that someone entered his locked garage and took a blue 27-inch boy's Schwinn 10-speed bicycle, a bag with metric tools and a Black & Decker power drill. Police said the thief entered the garage through a window.

Karen Sweet, 840 E. Elm, reported Sunday that someone took a boombox from her locked garage.

Jim Phillips, 609 S. Fifth St., reported Sunday that a 20-inch BMX bicycle was taken from his yard. The bicycle is reddish orange in color.

Jimmy Means, 707 E. Washington, reported Sunday that someone took a 24-inch Huff bicycle from his yard. The bicycle is lime green with black trim, spoke wheels and seat.

How-to book section misses major issues of modern life

While at a bookstore recently, I perused the how-to aisle, taking a gander at what's popular these days.

Boy, was I amazed.

In fact, I was shocked. There were books - hundreds of them - on how to improve one's marriage, relationship with children, sex life and self-image. There were books on coping with drug addiction, infidelity, alcoholism.

But not a single one addressed truly important issues, such as:

How to get someone else to change the toilet paper roll.

This is a biggie in many families. Either the paper runs out while the woman of the house is using the facility OR someone uses the last of the paper and doesn't replace the roll.

In our house, the latter problem is compounded because when one member of our family notices the roll is getting low, (say, down to three squares) that person gets a new roll out, uses it, but leaves it on the floor for the next person to change.

That brings up a related point:

Is toilet paper supposed to go over or under the roller?

Scientists have debated this point for years. Personally, I prefer it over the roll, but I live with people who either don't care or think under is allowable. It's like living with someone who squeezes the toothpaste tube in the middle.

Other topics not covered by any book I've found center around laundry.

Why don't people check their pockets before throwing dirty clothes in the wash?

You won't find any books on this subject, although there should be.

Gum, Chapstick, pens and pocket knives have all been washed and dried. I've even laundered money (which I'm not complaining about).

Whose job is it to turn laundry right side out, the person who wears it or the one who washes it?

Again, it's only personal opinion, but I think the wearer should be responsible.

This applies to not throwing rolled up socks and jeans into the wash, as well.

And just how do you stop people from putting an empty beverage containers back in the refrigerator?

It never fails: you're hot, you're thirsty. You want something to drink. The container that's supposed to have what you want is there, but it's empty, and nobody knows who did it.

These are things everybody suffers with and not one volume of solutions is available.

Some help, huh?
