Hoopeston prepares for Halloween happenings

Guys and ghouls will have lots of fun this Halloween weekend.

Events begin Friday with the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church chicken noodle dinner, serving 4:30 - 8 p.m.. Prices are $5 for adults, $2.50 for children 6-12 and five and under, free.

Friday is also the day of the Special Olympics' apple sale in Hoopeston.

On Saturday, the United Methodist Church bazaar and luncheon will be held from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The Hoopeston AMVETS post is also sponsoring a bazaar.

From 8-9 a.m. Saturday, artists may enter their jack-o-lanterns in the pumpkin judging contest. At 11 a.m., registration begins for the Halloween costume parade. Both events will take place downtown.

Winners for the jack-o-lantern contest and costume parade will be announced at noon.

At 1 p.m., a special Halloween movie will be shown at the Lorraine Theater, followed by the Jaycees children's Halloween party from 3-5 p.m.

Hoopeston Area school score above average on report cards

Hoopeston Area schools get good marks when it comes to areas of the school report card.

A summary handed out by Supt. Don Dean at last week's board meeting shows Hoopeston schools meeting or exceeding goals set by the state.

Monday, ghosts and goblins will abound during trick-or-treat hours, which are 5-8 p.m. in Hoopeston and 5-9 p.m. in Rossville.

Also on Monday, trick-or-treaters are invited to the Hoopeston Nursing Home from 6:30-7:30 p.m. to visit with residents' and receive treats.

Joanne Turngren, activity director, said the activity is something residents look forward to every year. "They like to visit with the children," she said.

Turngren requests that trick-or-treaters not come earlier than 6:30 because it will interfere with the residents' dinner hour.

Trick-or-treating at the nursing home rounds out a day of spooky happenings for residents, she said.

Employees are expected to dress in costume and an in-house pumpkin decorating contest is planned.

A special Halloween lunch is also planned for residents, including witch's stew, Halloweenies, deviled eggs, ghoulish salad and devil's food cake.
