Library, Demeter to host grain market program

Knowing when to hold 'em and when to fold 'em is a concept that applies to more than playing cards.

For farmers, knowing when to hold their grain and when to sell it is an important part of economic survival.

To help make that decision, the Hoopeston Public Library and Demeter, Inc., are sponsoring a program called "Grain Markets - What to Do."

The program will be at 2 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 23 at the library meeting room.

The featured speaker will be Darrel Good, professor and extension economist in the University of Illinois Department of Ag Economics. Good's responsibilities there include the area of agricultural price forecasting.

"I was told by a farmer that Darrel Good is a respectable person to listen to in this area," said head librarian Lou Graham.

Graham said she saw a need for such a program. Knowing whether to pay storage prices or sell is "one of the hardest things to do in farming," she said. "I'm a farm wife so I speak from experience."

The program will, in a sense, be a first for Good. "He said he'd never given a talk at a library before," Graham said. "Once again, we're on the cutting edge," she said, laughing.

Good's presentation will include handouts to those attending, she said.

The program is almost new ground for the library, as well. "We've never done a lot of adult programs," Graham said. "We hope to do more of this in the future.

Briefly

Walking hours

Mike Eckersley, chairman of the city's parks committee, reminds walkers that McFerren Park civic center walking hours are 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. during the week and 6 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

If hours change because of a scheduled event, notification will be put on the civic center bulletin board.

Eckersley said 85 to 110 walkers use the center during the day. The number of night time walkers is "usually a little bit leaner," he said.

Contest winners

The Hoopeston Public Library has announced winners in the "Who Should Melissa Marry?"

contest. Marilyn Unger and Louise Hamilton tied for first place, so each wins a free dinner for two at Crunch's Restaurant, said head librarian Lou Graham.

Pesticide protection manual available

New federal worker protection standards, effective Jan. 1, cover 3.9 million pesticide handlers and workers nationwide.

The Illinois Dept. of Agriculture has published the "How to Comply Manual" and other publications, free from: Illinois Dept. of Agriculture, Bureau of Environmental Programs, P.O. Box 19281, Springfield, IL., 62794-9281 or by calling (217) 785-2427.
