Local business owner to combine three shops, one site

You might say Gary Warf is getting things together.

Warf, owner of Warf's Marathon and Warf's on Second, both on Second Ave. and West Main, plans to move his third business, Sportsman Bait and Tackle, to the same location by May 1.

The Marathon and Warf's on Second portions of the building are being remodeled to make room for the new addition.

The move will mean "more to offer people of the area," Warf said, adding he has more ideas and is looking forward to implementing them.

The move will mean one-stop shopping for local sports enthusiasts, who can grab a rod, reel and bait from Sportsman's, other sporting equipment from Warf's on Second and fill up their vehicles at Warf's Marathon.

All are family-run businesses, owned by Warf and his wife, Teri. Sons Jason and Todd, daughter Angie Cade and nephew Greg Gossett join the team, along with Shawn McMillan.

The businesses are open 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. seven days each week.

Correction

It was reported in Thursday's edition that a challenge to elections in Hoopeston's third ward had been made. The motion for discovery was filed in the city's fourth ward. Just the Facts regrets the error.
