Community center lists summer activities for youngsters

The Eastern Illinois Multi Purpose Center has announced its annual summer recreation program activities.

This year's schedule includes:

Tennis lessons: 9-10 a.m. daily for children ages seven to 10; 10-11 a.m. ages 11 and older. Participants should bring a new can of balls the first day. They will be returned at the end of the week. Cost is $15 per person.

Fun for All miniature golf: June 14-July 26. Half price (65¢) miniature golfing from 2-5 p.m. Wednesdays at Fun for All miniature golf course in McFerren Park. Participants must register at the EIMPC, 206 S. First Ave., for this activity.

Fun & Messy Art Projects For Kids Only: For children ages 5-10. 9-10 a.m. June 12-16. For all those fun and messy projects your kids want to do...and you don't want to do in your house! Fee is $15 per person.

Study skills for Incoming 7th & 8th graders: Kathy Vines will instruct students in junior high studying habits. 9-10 a.m. Aug. 7-11. cost is $15.

Staerkel Planetarium: A free trip for parents and children ages six through high school. June time and date will be announced. Call the center at (217) 283-9351 for more details.

"The Sound of Music": presented at the Country Theatre Workshop in Cissna Park on July 21. Bus leaves at 6:30 p.m. for 8 p.m. performance.

Golf lessons: At Tee It Up driving range. $30 registration fee includes lessons, unlimited balls clubs, if needed, tourney with prizes and pizza party. Lessons will be held four Fridays, beginning June 9 and are open to youth seven or older.

Illinois to have zero tolerance for underaged drinkers

At this time of the year, teenagers are making tough decisions that will affect the rest of their lives. One of the most important decisions concerns drinking and driving.

Effective Jan. 1, 1995, the State of Illinois will have "zero tolerance" for any driver under 21 who chose to drink and drive. Under the new "Use It & Lose It" legislation, drivers under 21 will lose their driving privileges for a minimum of three months if there is any trace of alcohol in their system. If the driver is convicted of "driving under the influence" (blood alcohol content of .10 or greater), he or she will lose their driving privileges for a minimum of two years and face possible fines and jail time on the first offense. Further, teenage drivers caught with alcohol in their system can expect high insurance costs, mandatory alcohol evaluation, court and attorney fees and negative long term effects on their driving record, job and higher education opportunities.

However, drinking and driving can have even a more serious consequence than a loss of driving privileges. Teenagers can and are losing their lives. Nationally, over six individuals between the ages of 16 and 20 die in automobile crashes, almost half of which are alcohol re-

Police News

A Hoopeston man was injured in an accident at 9:16 a.m. Wednesday. Arthur T. Ford Jr., 824 E. Chestnut, was taken to Hoopeston Community Memorial Hospital after his 1994 Chevrolet truck went off hospital road, striking a utility pole. No tickets were issued.

Tolerance continued from other side lated, according to George H. Ryan, Illinois secretary of state.

A police officer will test fo alcohol if, after issuing a citation for any traffic offense, the officer has probably cause to believe the driver has consumed alcohol. Based on the driver's phisical condition or the officer's firsthand knowledge, a sobriety test may be requested. Under this new zero tolerance legislation, drivers under 21 who refuse the test will lose their driving privileges for a minimum of six months.

The message to teenagers is clear. Drive safely. Drive sober and be proud of your decision.
