Insurance company, library 'jumpstart' reading skills

There is one card that can change a child's life.
It has no strings attached and no annual fee. It is called a library card, one of our nation's last true bargains.

The information available with this card, from computer databases to books, can be a child's most important school supply.

That is why The Prudential, in conjunction with Friends of Libraries U.S.A., plans to give children in the Hoopeston and Rossville areas a

"jumpstart" on the wonders of reading.

JumpStart is a nationwide program encouraging parents and teachers to bring first through third graders to local libraries during September to receive their first library cards.

"We hope JumpStart gives parents fresh inspiration for sharing the pleasure of reading with their children," said Jim Bowers, local Prudential representative.

Participating schools will receive JumpStart packages including a 10-page newsletter for parents, classroom poster and stickers for children.

The newsletter includes a "temporary" library card that children can exchange for an official card in recognition of Library Card Sign-Up Month in September.

The temporary card becomes a sweepstakes entry with a grand prize of $50,000 towards a child's college expense fund. Other prizes include computers, encyclopedias and resource libraries.

For more information about the JumpStart program, contact Bowers at (217) 283-6634.
