Rossville United Methodist Church to hold health fair

ROSSVILLE—The Rossville United Methodist Church will host a free senior community health fair from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Tuesday, May 2 in the fellowship hall, 116 Maple, Rossville.

The fair is being held in cooperation with Lakeview College of Nursing.

Prevention of senior health problems will be the focus of the fair, with emphasis on healthy lifestyles through good nutrition and exercise, and prevention of heart disease and cancer. Low fat, low sugar snacks, tea and juice will be served. Free cholesterol and glucose screenings and blood pressure checks will be offered.

Information will be available from various agencies including CRIS Senior Services, American Association of Retired People, Lifeline, Provena Heartcare Network, Regional Organ Bank of Illinois, Rossville Community Ambulance Service, Rossville Area Fire Protection District and United Samaritans Senior Services. Lakeview College of Nursing students will also present educational projects.

For more information, call (217) 748-6760 or 748-4089.

Milford High School schedules Promenade, 2000 prom

MILFORD—Milford High School students will celebrate "Remember Me" the 2000 prom, Saturday, April 29.

All are invited to help kick off the big evening beginning at 3:45 in the high school gym for the Promenade, where attendees and the court, dresses in their evening's attire, will be introduced.

Residents are invited to bring cameras and come to the Promenade for photo opportunities prior to students departure for the dinner, dance and coronation at 6 p.m. at the Kruse Center in Gibson City.

The post prom celebration is sponsored by the parents and will follow the dance at 12:30 a.m. at the high school. Hypnotist Andy Dallas will perform and there will be karaoke, cards, movies, a volleyball tournament, pizzas and a surprise event. Drawings for merchandise for cash prizes and merchandise donated by area businesses will be held during the night.

Post prom will end at 4 a.m. with a breakfast at the Depot in Milford.
