Hoopeton Visioning Committee launches local web page

The Hoopeton Visioning Committee has added to Hoopeton's presence on the World Wide Web.

The group launched a web page that tells about the Visioning for the Future Committee and Hoopeton.

The page was designed and is hosted by hoopeton.org, said Visioning vice president Lourdine Florek. "Since the Visioning Committee operates on a shoestring budget, we're especially grateful to hoopeton.org for designing the page and hosting it at no cost to us," she said.

The site, at www.hoopetonvision.org, contains links to other Hoopeton sites and has room to add events geared towards September's Farm Progress Show. "It's a simple page that downloads quickly and is easy to navigate," Florek said. "It was designed to show the hominess, the warmth of Hoopeton."

From www.hoopetonvision.org, surfers may go the Hoopeton Area School District page, as well as those of Hoopeton Regional Healthcare, the Hoopeton Public Library, Hoopeton Jaycees, hoopeton.org and Just the Facts.

County organizations are also included in the links section, with connections to Rossville, DACC, Vermilion Advantage, the Regional Office of Education, Vermilion County and the Vermilion County Workforce Investment Board.

"We wanted to include that information so that people can get a good view of what not only Hoopeton, but Vermilion County, has to offer," Florek said.

The site has generated a great deal of traffic, including international visitors. "According to the statistics for the page, hoopetonvision.org averages more than 1,000 hits per day," Florek said. Viewers are located throughout the globe, with hits coming from Germany, Switzerland, the UK and Japan, among others.

"It's good to see the site is getting out there," Florek said. "You never know when someone somewhere might want to open a business in the United States and with the volume of traffic the site has been getting, Hoopeton is certainly getting noticed."
