Zoning ordinance to be enforced

I have been asked to please convey notice so that our city residences and business owners know that there is a city ordinance that requires all homes and businesses display their addresses on the buildings. This is for your safety and makes it much easier for responding emergency personnel to find you in a critical time. This is for your safety, not an invasion of privacy.

The addresses displayed should be at least three to five inches tall, numbers that can be read easily from the street. The numbers should be placed either by the front entrance of the residence or front of the house or business that faces the street.

Landlords, rental properties also need to be clearly marked and if there is more than one unit at a rental property, it needs to be properly marked with apartment numbers on the doors.

The Zoning Officer will start checking on Nov. 15, 2004 to make sure that all houses and businesses are properly marked.
