Rossville seeks parade entries, announces homes on tour

The Rossville Community Organization is seeking entries for its annual Holiday Light Parade.

The parade will start at 6 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 9, and proceed north along Chicago Street from Gilbert Street to the former Rossville Alvin District High School.

Any community organizations, businesses, or individuals can take part in the parade as long as the entry is decorated with Christmas lights and does not have a live Santa Claus. Those who are interested in having a entry or would simply like to make a contribution to the parade's operational fund should contact RCO Christmas Committee chairman Dick Queen at (217)748-4344.

The parade is part of the 5th Annual Christmas in the Village Event. Sponsored by the Rossville Community Organization, the two-day event includes a light festival and live nativity at Christman Park, a Winter Carnival at the high school gym, a Holiday Homes Tour on Sunday, a sausage and pancake breakfast at the United Methodist Church on Saturday morning from 7-11am and other activities. Tickets for the annual Rossville Holiday Homes Tour are now on sale. This event, sponsored by the Rossville Community Organization (RCO), will be held from 3:30-8:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 10

Area homes included in this year's event are those of John & Cookie Green, Kathy Collier, Rebecca Melikyan, Dr. Daniel & Anna Blizzard, Dale & Maris McCalla, and Tim & Heather Cottingham In addition, Gallerie Romantique and the Presbyterian Church in

Fourth graders learn of tie between martial arts, schoolwork

Kathy Marlatt's fourth grade class at Honeywell School hosted Mike Webb from the Okinawan School of Karate recently for a talk about the martial arts and character building.

Webb spoke about the three rules of concentration, respect, and self-discipline. Students were able to learn and interact during the session as they learned the first three basics in karate.

Webb related each of these techniques to getting better grades, having a better relationship with mom and dad, and goal setting.

Christopher Webb, a Junior Black Belt at the Okinawan School of Karate, gave a short martial arts demonstration using the Nunchakus, an old Okinawan martial arts weapon.

Each student who showed respect for the rest of the day in Mrs. Marlatt's class received a pass to take a free karate class at the Okinawan School of Karate.
