Sophomores have winning float; HA loses 52-0

With cheerleaders dressed in uniforms from 1964, Hoopeston Area High School's sophomore class beat out the other classes to win the float competition in Friday's Homecoming parade.

Each class' float represented a decade of music and school spirit. Judges deemed the sophomore class float, "Hit the Road," as the winning entry.

The class fared better than the Cornjerkers who were defeated by Oakwood/Armstrong-Potomac, 52-0 in Friday's Homecoming game. Oakwood scored 14 points the first quarter, followed by 41 and 7 in the second and third stanzas but the Cornjerkers kept the Comets scoreless in the fourth quarter.

Homecoming royalty was crowned at halftime of the game. Katelin Sheppard and Andrew Colunga were named queen and king of the event. Their court included Jesse Gillette, Alicia Solis, Story Niccum, Logan Davis, Clayton Snyder, Jonathan Haley and Andrew Colunga.

Attendants were juniors Aubrey Trosper and Cody Eells; sophomores Vanessa Granados and Reuben Martinez; and freshmen Beth Weston and Alex Moore.

Rossville-Alvin Grade School welcomes Blue Bear mascot

ROSSVILLE—Students and staff at Rossville-Alvin Grade School gave a warm reception to a fuzzy blue visitor on Friday, Aug. 22.

Blue Bear, mascot of Blue Cross/Blue Shield, visiting the school with a message about wellness and how students can take care of their health.

To show youngsters one way of keeping healthy, Blue Bear made principal Nick Chatterton do 10 sit-ups. Boy, was his face red!

She also brought gifts for the students—a table full of school supplies.

Man held on $1 million bond in grandfather's death

STOCKLAND—A rural Stockland man is being held on $1 million bond after police found his grandfather beaten to death.

Leonard Badenhorst, 22, was expected to be charged Monday with first degree murder in connection with the death of Herschel Fleming, 79, of rural Stockland.

Mr. Fleming, who moved from Chicago to the area about 10 years ago, was found bludgeoned to death by Iroquois County Sheriff's police at 2:57 p.m. Friday. The cause of death was listed as crushing injuries to the chest caused by blunt force trauma.

Badenhorst, from Springfield, moved to his grandfather's rural home about a month ago. He, his fiancée and his mother were reportedly living in a converted school bus on Mr. Fleming's property.

Funeral service for Mr. Fleming will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday at Knapp Funeral Home, Milford. Visitation will be two hours before the service.
