School superintendent named to health center board of directors

HORNBECK

Hornbeck is superintendent of Hoopeston Area Schools but his road to this position required a lot of dedication and hard work. He started his career after receiving his bachelor's degree from Millikin University. He then went on to receive a master's degree from Eastern Illinois University along with another specialist degree from EIU. He began teaching and coaching in the Hoopeston School District in 1994, eventually working his way up, becoming until superintendent in July 2007.

Hornbeck lives in Hoopeston with his wife Tammy, a physical education teacher in Rossville. He has two children, daughter Jordan who is married with one child and a second grade teacher at Maple Grade School, and son Anthony who attends the University of Illinois.

Because of his commitment to the community and years of service to the Hoopeston Area School District, HRHC board members believe he is the perfect addition to the board.

Cornjerkers end regular season on high note with 42-15 win

Hoopeston Area ended its season at 3-6 after Friday night's 42-15 win over Milford-Cissna Park.

The win was a team effort. Tyler Selsor had a six-yard fumble return for the Cornjerkers' first TD. Standout Terrance Poke had two touchdown passes, a touchdown run and interception return on the night. He passed for 165 yards, had 66 rushing and ended Cornjerker scoring in the fourth with a 90-yard interception return.

Robbie Irvin was on the receiving end of a five-yard toss, while Alan Leigh caught a 19-yard pass, both adding to the final tally.

Irvin nabbed nine passes for a total of 93 yards. Tyler Martin had 79 yards rushing and Ruben Martinez ran 22 yards for a score.
