Area moves from winter storm warning to wind chill advisory

With the exception of city workers plowing streets and snow removal companies cleaning driveways, Hoopeston pretty much shut down Wednesday

The storm that was expected to produce roughly a foot of snow locally contained more freezing rain and sleet than snow, keeping snow totals to three to four inches. But high winds overnight and into Wednesday morning contributed to drifts that were more than a foot deep in places and made for cold temperatures while shoveling.

Schools were closed Tuesday and Wednesday and several area businesses closed early Tuesday and some were closed Wednesday. The weather also affected meetings as both a planned announcement from Hoopeston Regional Health Center officials and Tuesday's Hoopeston City Council meeting were cancelled. The council meeting has been rescheduled for next Tuesday. A special Rossville-Alvin School Board meeting set for 5 p.m. Tuesday was reset for 5 p.m. Thursday.

The area had been under a winter storm warning since Tuesday afternoon. That was set to expire at noon Wednesday but was followed by a wind chill advisory from 6 p.m. Wednesday to noon Thursday. Wednesday night's low was predicted at -5, followed by a high Thursday of 9 and a low of -4, with winds around 10 m.p.h., and wind chill factors of -10 to -18.

The forecast calls for warmer temperatures towards the end of the week with a high Saturday of 28 and 30 on Sunday.

Police News

No tickets or injuries were reported in an accident at 3:23 pm. Tuesday in the 300 block of West Penn. Police said Randall E. Espinoza, of Hoopeston, backed a 2007 Toyota from a driveway into an eastbound 2005 Dodge driven by William M. Lind, also of Hoopeston.

Hoopeston Area Cornjerkers takes fifth place Saturday at Eastern Illinois wrestling tourney

Cornjerker wrestler's finished fifth at Saturday's Eastern Illinois Tourney. Every wrestler wrestled with intensity and a desire to succeed, said Coach Ryan Morehouse.

Individual place winners were:

- 119lbs Andrew Winchester who placed seventh and had the best match of the day in his seventh and eighth place match, coming back from being behind in the third period to pin Riley Stewart from Rantoul, who also had a great display of wrestling and sportsmanship throughout the day.

- 130lbs Colin Carswell placed sixth, pinning two of his four opponents. Carswell has improved in each of his matches, and has worked hard everyday to do so.

- 152lbs Zach Drollinger placed first wrestling his best matches so far. He has the most Tech. Falls and take-downs this season, and is close to breaking the school's record in each category.
