IMH officials set groundbreaking for new Milford clinic

MILFORD—Iroquois Memorial Hospital officials will break ground on a new IMH clinic in Milford.

The ceremony will be held at 3:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 22, at the southeast corner of the four-way stop, where the former Casey's General Store was located. The former store has been vacant for a few years and will be razed to make way for the new construction.

IMH CEO, Chuck Bohlmann said "Serving the health-care needs of the Milford community is very important to Iroquois Memorial Hospital. IMH has operated a full time medical clinic in Milford since 1986."

Officials are pleased be able to expand health care services in Milford. This is also an opportunity to develop this property, turn it into something that will enhance Milford's business district and be a source of pride for the community." At 2,700 square feet, the new IMH Milford Clinic will be triple the size of the current clinic. It will feature four exam rooms, procedure room, lab, nurse's station and a comfortable lobby. Off-street parking will also be available. X-ray services will be added in the future. The project will be funded by the IMH Foundation.

Bohlmann said the new clinic will be large enough to accommodate several providers at a time, allowing more patients to be seen each day. "Our goal is to better serve our customers by creating a modern new facility with their convenience and comfort in mind," he said.

Work on the project is slated to begin in the next few weeks and should be completed early next year.
