Hoopeston Public Library hold annual ‘Food for Fines’

Patrons of Hoopeston Public Library can pay their fines and help a good cause with the annual “Food for Fines” drive currently underway.

During December, the library will accept canned goods and non-perishable food items within their expiration dates, along with packaged household paper products, as payment of library fines. Each item or package donated will be worth $1 toward payment of fines. (Some single items or packages may not qualify.)

Donations are good for overdue material fines only; they cannot go toward the cost of lost items or other library fees.

All items received will be donated to the Grant Township Food Cupboard.

Fire Calls

Hoopeston Fire Department was called at 11 a.m. Wednesday to the 200 block of West Elm for a suspected electrical fire in a wall of a home. No injuries were reported.
