Telemedicine expands options local for cardiac patients

Vermilion County residents who need follow-up cardiac care will now be able to have appointments at Carle Hoopeston Regional Health Center with their cardiologist via telemedicine.

Vikas Soma, MD, FAAC, interventional cardiologist at Carle Heart and Vascular Institute, will now be able to meet with patients via a secure online connection from his office in Urbana. "I will always meet with patients face-to-face for initial consultation," Dr. Soma said. "Once the patient progresses and needs only follow-up visits, those who live in Vermilion County and the surrounding area can have their visits via telemedicine. We can communicate in real time, and I can listen to the heart, evaluate the patient's progress and address any concerns he or she may have. Thanks to telemedicine, I can help more patients each day because this eliminates travel time."

A nurse or Certified Medical Assistant will take a patient's vitals and then guide him or her to a private room. The patient can see and interact face-to-face in real time with Dr. Soma via a 42-inch high definition screen. The clinician will then operate the electronic stethoscope and Dr. Soma can listen to the patient's heart. The telemedicine technology is easy to use and makes a difference for the patient by increasing access to Dr. Soma.

Telemedicine is part of expanded cardiology services in Hoopeston. If people wish to have a follow up visit with their cardiologist in person, they and their cardiologist can still schedule an appointment at Carle Hoopes-ton Regional Health Center. Through telemedicine, the patient has access to more appointment times providing greater schedule flexibility. At this time, Dr. Soma is the only cardiologist using telemedicine.

"This telemedicine project is a win-win for Dr. Soma and his patients in the Vermilion County area," said Harry Brockus, Carle Hoopeston Regional Health Center CEO.

"Patients won't have to travel all the way to Urbana for follow-up visits or wait for an appointment on a day Dr. Soma comes to Hoopeston. It is important for us to bring the advanced, high-quality care of Carle Heart and Vascular Institute to our patients where they live. Telemedicine at Carle Hoopeston Regional Health Center does just that," he said.
