Sparks fly

Sparks fly as Kevin Tyler and Tyson Pankow work on the marquee at the Lorraine Theatre last weekend. The two, of Tyler's Fab and Weld, in Hoopeston, cleaned rust from the underside of the marquee and will fabricate new pieces before the area is repainted. Debbie Tyler also assisted in the effort.

Briefly

Downtown Cleanup Day

Downtown Clean-Up Day in Hoopeston will begin at 11 a.m. Saturday. Volunteers are needed to wash windows, pick up trash and decorate empty storefronts for the upcoming festival. People will meet at the H&R Block parking lot to begin cleaning.

Gospel Music in the Park

The Allen Quartet, of East Lynn, and Hoosier Harmony Quartet, of Indiana, will perform Saturday at Gospel Music in the Park in Rossville's Christman Park.

The southern gospel concert will be from 6-8 p.m. Bring a friend and lawn chairs. In case of rain, the concert will be moved to Rossville Church of Christ. A freewill offering will be taken.

For more information, call Richard Birkey, (217) 495-0011.

Letters to the Editor

Historic bell should be left where it is
To our civic leaders:
About a week ago, I read in Just the Facts about the work being done on our water tower. It said the bell was going to be removed.
Why? It doesn't eat anything or use gas or electricity or cost the city any money. If you can't afford a gallon of paint, I'll buy it. Why don't you paint it silver or gold—something to make it stand out?
That bell is our history. I'm sixty years old and that bell was put up long before I was born. Also, someday, in a major event that would cause power to go out, that bell might be used to alert us to an emergency, just as it was to the people who put it there.

I'm tired of seeing our history bulldozed or burned. This is my home town and I'm proud of it. Please stop cutting away at it.
Thank you.
