Local artists to have works unveiled at Presence USMC

Artwork by local students will be among projects unveiled Tuesday as part of Presence United Samaritans Medical Center's Children's Art Program.

Nathaniel Gash, of Maple Elementary; Resse LaBaume, of John Greer; and Nicholas Stevens, of Honeywell, all in Hoopeston, are among 15 students in grades three-five whose projects will be featured at the program, at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Winning submissions were chosen by school art instructors to be professionally matted, framed and hung in the medical center for two years. At the end of that time, the works will be returned to the students.

The young artists and their families will be treated to a picnic-style dinner after the program.

Scenes from the 71st Sweetcorn Festival

People did all kinds of things at the 71st National Sweetcorn Festival held over Labor Day weekend. Clockwise from lower left, Anastasia Schenk, three, of Bloomington, enjoys a ride on the midway; Cliff Crabtree left, with Terry Beauvois, gets ready to walk in his final parade as chief of the Hoopeston Fire Department; Kalie Wright, the new National Sweetheart, wears a potato sack dress in the parade; Seth Ocker, 15, of Danville, chows down in the sweet corn eating contest; Charlie Eyrich gets fishing tips from Stephen Mastin during the fishing contest; Rotarian Jary Archer dispenses ice cream to customers.
