Women's clinic sets second high school pro-life essay contest

The Women's Care Clinic of Danville announces its second annual High School Pro-Life Essay Contest. Vermilion County students in grades 9-12 are invited to submit written essays or visual works of art addressing the topic, "Becoming the Pro-Life Generation."

Written essays must be no longer than 750 words; visual works should be unframed and mounted on 22x28 poster board or similar backing. All entries become the property of Women's Care Clinic for contest and promotional purposes. Entries are due Friday, April 8, 2016.

Prizes will be awarded to the top three entries in each category; winners will be announced at the WCC Banquet for Life on Thursday April 28. For more information and complete rules, visit our website, www.danvillewcc.org.

The Women's Care Clinic is a privately-funded non-profit organization offering help and support to women and men in crisis pregnancy situations. Clients can re-
