Judges needed for expected high-turnout November election

DANVILLE—Cathy Jenkins, Vermilion County Clerk, is calling on eligible residents to serve as election judges on Election Day, November 8 in what is expected to be a heavy voter-turnout election.

Approximately 275 election judges will be needed to staff 28 polling places in Vermilion County this year.

Anyone interested can apply and learn more about serving as an election judge at www.vercountv.org or visit their location election office at the Vermilion County Courthouse Annex, 6 N. Vermilion St., 1st floor, in Danville to complete and submit an application.

“Serving as an election judge is a great opportunity for

Vermilion County residents to get involved with the process as well as a great opportunity to meet others in their community,” said Jenkins. “And while the work can be
