First Farmers, CRA Partners fund Wish Comes True grant

Thanks to First Farmers Bank & Trust, residents of Heritage Health, Hoopeston, will soon enjoy special events due to the Wish Comes True grant.

First Farmers partners with CRA Partners, powered by the Senior Housing Crime Prevention Foundation, and makes this grant available at no cost to the facility.

As a sponsored senior care facility, the Wish Comes True grant's purpose is to fulfill a wish or need for the residents at Heritage Health, which will use the grant to provide live music entertainment events for its residents. "Our organization is proud to honor and show our appreciation to the folks at Heritage Health. We sincerely hope that the entertainment provides memorable fellowship opportunities for the residents and brings lots of smiles to all," said Gene Miles, President and CEO of First Farmers Bank & Trust.

In addition to the crime prevention program, CRA Partners and First Farmers Bank & Trust, want to provide special items or events that provide endless hours of entertainment and meaningful contact that the facility might not be able to provide in its already stretched budget," said Terry Rooker, president of Senior Crimestoppers.

Feed My Lambs to begin 10th year of serving free lunches

Feed My Lambs Summer Lunch program is preparing to begin its 10th summer at the Hoopeston First United Methodist Church (403 E. Main St.).

Pre-K through 12th grade Hoopeston Area students who qualify for free or reduced book fees through the school year are encouraged to come receive a free lunch Monday through Friday at the church's fellowship hall beginning Monday, June 4.

Lunches will be served from 11 a.m. to 12 p.m. daily, and can be picked up and taken or enjoyed in the air-conditioned fellowship hall. Please bring proof of age per student (ex., report card, birth certificate) and contact information prior to receiving first lunch.

Connie Huffman, coordinator, is very grateful for the community's generosity and is looking forward to another successful summer of serving the Hoopeston community.

For questions or information on how to volunteer, please call 217-283-
