From the Blotter

Letters to the Editor

Centennial Manor is good place to live

I'm proud to say I have been a resident of Centennial Manor for almost 11 years now. It's run by Danville Housing now and there are a lot more rules. If people drink any kind of alcohol downstairs or outside, or smoke in the building, they can be evicted. Many of us don't smoke, drink or do drugs. This is not a crack house, like many people think. This is our home.

We now have deadbolt locks, besides our regular locks on our doors. We have more cameras now, if anyone is trying to do something illegal.

There are mostly people on disability and low income here. Yes, there is a drug problem here, but that's true on almost every block in Hoopeston. A lot of those people have gotten evicted from here.

There are people of all ages here, including seniors like me. We have a Neighborhood Watch and having meetings with Housing to improve anything that needs attention. So please don't judge a book by its cover.

Hoopeston Fire Department, along with Hoopeston police, responded at 7:38 a.m. Tuesday for a report of a large fire in a yard in the 200 block of West Maple. The fire was an illegal burn of furniture and wood product. It was extinguished and the resident warned that only yard waste is approved for such disposal.

Fire and police were called at 7:27 p.m. Tuesday to Birkey's Farm Store, 1037 S. Dixie Hwy., for a strong smell of natural gas. Nothing was found other than anhydrous being applied to area fields.
