Police to step up golf cart enforcement following complaints

Hoopeston police will be keeping an eye out for scoff-laws on golf carts after receiving complaints.

Hoopeston Police Chief Jim DeWitt said the department has received reports of children - including infants - unsecured in carts, what appears to be underage drivers operating carts, and drivers failing to move over for overtaking vehicles.

Cart drivers violating city ordinances may be issued a notice to appear in Hoopeston City Court, where they will face fines of up to $500. Multiple violations may result cart-driving privileges being revoked.

According to Hoopeston ordinances, cart drivers must:

- Be 16 or older and have a valid driver's license.

- Have proof of liability insurance for personal injury and property damage with limits not less than the minimum required by the state.

- Not operate carts when visibility is impaired by weather
