County SWCD to host prescribed burn workshop Sept. 4

Area farmers are invited to a prescribed burn workshop on September 4.

The event will be held in the Vermilion County Farm Bureau conference room, 1905 U.S. Rt. 150, Danville. Coffee and donuts will be served at 8:30 a.m. Training will be 9 a.m.-noon, covering how a burn team works together at a site, how to become a volunteer, setting up a landowner burn crew, appropriate clothing, hands-on equipment training, and further training.

Reservations are due by August 29 to Vermilion County SWCD, (217) 442-8511, ext. 3, or email Lisa.Leigh@il.nacdn.net.

The information is especially useful to those who have land enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program and are interested in learning more about prescribed burning and those interested in volunteering on a team.

Workshop speakers will be

Kent Macy, wildlife biologist, retired USDA-NRCS, IDNR prescribed burn manager, Lincoln Heritage Pheasants Forever burn boss

Bruce Stickers, Lincoln Heritage Pheasants Forever burn boss

Pheasants Forever Farm Bill biologist team

The workshop is sponsored by Vermilion County SWCD, Lincoln Heritage RC&D NFP, Pheasants Forever and Vermilion County Farm Bureau.

Can You Hear Me Now?

Almost everyone from six to 100 has a cell phone. They seem to be attached to us. It has become our lifeline to others. Without it, we could very possibly lose our minds! Does that sound like you?

I have a cell phone I carry with me when I travel. I have never used it when driving. If a call comes, I either pull over or respond at my destination. I don't need distractions while driving!

Do I have anything against cell phones? Maybe I do. When I am with someone who, instead of talking to me, is busy watching and waiting for the phone to ring - Really? I have given up an afternoon or my lunch time. I'd like to believe I'm more important than their cell phone, wouldn't you?

I asked myself the other day, "Whatever did I do without a cell phone?" I recalled the time my car died on Rt. 136 near Rt.1 and I had no cell phone. I know how to put oil and gas in a car, but that's it. I sat there for 10 or 15 minutes until someone pulled in front of me, got out and offered to help. "I'll get my dad, he lives not far from here." No cell phone mania. They were back in 20 minutes and had me ready to roll. I still remember their kindness and have paid it forward many times. There is something really, really, special about being helped and helping others in person!

Do I think cell phone mania will ever cease? No. Who knows five years from now what other tool we may have that we can't live without.

Here is my quest to all of us with our lifeline cell phones. Let's try living safer by not using or listening to the cell phones when driving a car, truck, motorcycle, tractor, anything with two or more wheels. Sound crazy?

I want all of you to be around to read my Corner, enjoy your family, attend the Sweetcorn Festival parade, dances and everything else joyful in your life!

How about getting over cell phone mania just a little for me? Aim to put your cell phone on mute at the dinner table, when your child comes in to tell you about school, when a friend invites you to breakfast or maybe just because I asked you to.
