Lorraine closed for 2020, Little Lorraine movies late August

Due to ongoing coronavirus restriction, Save the Lorraine Foundation announced Thursday that the Lorraine Theatre will be closed for the rest of the year but that the Little Lorraine will open for movies later this month.

While the Lorraine could open, capacity restrictions make it almost impossible to cover the costs of the entertainers, said Alex Houmes, foundation vice-president. "We try to keep ticket prices as low as possible, so we have to rely on attendance numbers to cover the show," he said.

Additionally, the board wants to install a UV air purification system in the Lorraine before reopening, similar to the one that has already been installed at the Little Lorraine. The systems cost about $800 and are being purchased with some of the Landmarks Illinois grant money the foundation received, Houmes said.

All 2020 events scheduled at the Lorraine will be rescheduled next year, including comedian Adam Grabowski, Hot Sauce Universe, The Taffetas musical, 7 Bridges: the Ultimate Eagles Experience (already scheduled for June 25, 2021) and Rock 'N' Roll Christmas.

Tickets already purchased for any of the events will be valid for the rescheduled date or purchasers can contact Lorraine board members for a refund. Along with Houmes, members include Jim and Betty Richards, president and treasurer, respectively; Carol Hicks, secretary; and Marta Pierce, Marilyn Tyler, Tami Goin and Debbie Benjamin.

"Doolittle," starring Robert Downey Jr., is set to be the first film shown at the Lorraine when it reopens for movies the weekend of August 21-23.

Safety measures will be taken, such as limiting capacity to 50 percent, reducing lobby wait times, and frequent cleaning/sanitation practices.

Theatergoers will be able to enjoy Pizza and Pictures on Fridays, ordering Pizza King pizzas or sandwiches at the concessions counter, to be delivered during the movie.

And, of course, there are those movie concessions. The Lorraine Foundation has made use of those during the downtime with Concessions to Go, which has proved quite popular. "A lot of people supported our Concessions to Go and we are very grateful for that," Houmes said. "It helped us pay the bills without pulling from reserves."

Houmes reminded residents who have a hankering for theater popcorn or other treats that they may stop in at the Little Lorraine when it opens and purchase their favorites during show times. "We understand not everyone will want to watch the movie we are showing (on a particular weekend) so we welcome people to come and just buy popcorn and other concessions to take home."

This has not been the best year for any business, but Houmes is looking to the future. "Next year is the City of Hoopeston's sesquicentennial (150-year anniversary) and the start of Lorraine's centennial (100-year anniversary)," he said. "We're working to bring you a great new variety of entertainment and celebrations for these milestones."
