From the Blotter

Alec Mockbee, 22, of Danville, was arrested at 1:40 a.m. Monday in the 300 block of West Chestnut. Police said Mockbee, wanted on a warrant, hid from officers and, when found, gave false information. He was charged with obstructing identification and was released with a new date in Vermilion County Court.

Brian Kinnaird, 29, of Hoopeston, was arrested at 4:11 a.m. Monday, charged for an incident reported at 5:56 p.m. Sunday. Police were called to the 200 block of East Penn, where a 21-year-old Hoopeston woman reported a domestic issue. Kinnaird had left the area before officers arrived.

He was later located, charged with domestic battery and unlawful restraint and taken to the Public Safety Building in Danville to await arraignment.

Help Yourself to Happiness

Just think how awesome it is to be happy. How is that possible in our upside-down world? A world where every day is different, not always bad, just never knowing what lies ahead. Like today. I planned on a sunny sit and read kind of day. You guessed it! No sun. No sitting outside, no reading, no happiness!

What do we do when happiness seems to slip away? Perhaps at a job or in a marriage, maybe a friendship you treasured. Seems we all think we deserve happiness. We want it! We need it! At least that's how most of us feel. We want good fortune, blessings, and joy. All the happiness we can get. Why? Well, because we are good people and it is our right and privilege to be happy! Because we claim a right to happiness. We demand feeling good. For sure it makes for a much nicer day. A cheerful look on your face gives joy to you and all those around you. I think joy and happiness are related.

Some of us spend hours and days looking for happiness. It is like winning the lottery. We see others happy and living it up. I think some folks have a happiness license. No matter what happens, they are happy! I bet you know someone like that. Let's not compare others' joy and happiness to ours. Let's just be happy on our own! Being happy means what? Is it the opportunity to really value your time and place in life? Yes, most of us, when happy, go along with smiles, joy, in harmony with the world. We laugh at silly jokes; we rejoice when someone comments on how happy we look!

There are days right now that we must struggle for happiness. Things go wrong, hate and fear creep into our lives! We look at the world and believe you me it is out of whack! So, what can you do for the world? I just want to prosper and enjoy each day. Let someone else handle the world. Sorry folks, we are the world! Happiness and joy make up our world, You're still wondering where is it?

Can I give it to you, or can you buy it? No! You are the happiness. You are the joy! So, stop looking! Start smiling, laughing, being thankful for all you have and help yourself to all the happiness in your heart! Happiness is right inside of YOU.
