Fishing trip turns into cleanup effort for Hoopeston youth

Eight-year-old Trenton Howell, of Hoopeston, was on his way Wednesday to try his luck fishing at the McFerren Park lagoon with his dad, Steven Howell Jr. When the duo arrived at the lagoon, Trenton noticed trash along the shoreline and, rather than fish, took it upon himself to clean it up instead.

"Trenton is a fine young man," Steven Howell said. "He was just awarded remote student of the month. It's not often an eight-year-old understands the importance of preserving wildlife."

the midfield as well as step into leadership roles.

Coaches hope to see Kayden Wallace play more minutes this year. His first two years, he was a pivotal swing player while dealing with some injuries.

Junior Luke Crase has shown great improvement which could land him a starting job or replace Wallace as the swing player providing depth at many positions.
