Former law office renovated into Bricks and Ivy Event Center, activities set for weekend

A former downtown Hoopeston law office has been renovated into a haven for sports stars and their fans.

The office, at 207 E. Main, changed hands in early July from Scott Perkins, former Hoopeston city attorney and Rossville resident, to Built 2 Last Property Management, LLC, owned by Bob and Emily Brown.

The Browns who also own Bricks and Ivy Sports, at 201 E. Main, purchased the building as a place to hold autograph sessions with sports figures and their fans.

Previously, it had been the Hoopeston branch of the law offices of Kesler, Nelson, Garman, Brougner & Townsley, where Bill Nelson practiced law after selling his law office building across the street, also purchased by the Browns and now known as 112 Wine and Coffee
