From the Blotter

Bradly W. Wagoner, 37, of Hoopston, was arrested at 7:52 p.m. Tuesday in the 500 block of East Wyman after Montgomery County, Ind., law enforcement notified Hoopston police of his whereabouts and asked that he be picked up.

Wanted on a Montgomery County warrant, he was arrested and taken to the Public Safety Building in Danville to await extradition.

Police were notified at 7:28 p.m. Monday that gasoline was taken from the 100 block of East Washington in the early morning hours. The theft, valued at less than $500, was forwarded to department investigators.

Ready to learn

Students exit a bus to enter Maple School Wednesday, the first day of the new school year. Some children were excited to return to school, while one or two first-timers could be heard crying as parents coaxed them into the building. Staff and students were masked and staff scanned students' temperatures before they boarded their bus. Hoopston motorists are asked to be mindful of schools being open and be mindful of school crossing zones and stopped school buses.
