Change in Illinois law pushes back election filing dates

Per Public Act 102-0015, which pushes back the General Primary Election to June 28, 2022, petition packets for candidates who wish to run in the General Primary Election will not be available until January 13, 2022. Per Illinois Election Code, packets will not be handed out prior to the first day petitions may be circulated.

The first day petitions for established political parties may be circulated is Thursday, Jan. 13, 2022. Petition packets must be filed with the Vermilion County Clerk beginning at 8 a.m. Monday, March 7, through 5 p.m. Monday, March 14, 2022.

The order in which candidates file will determine their placement on the ballot. In the event two candidates file for the same office and are of the same party, a lottery will be held at a later date and time to determine ballot placement.

Local offices to be nominated at the June 28, 2022 General Primary Election include County Clerk, County Treasurer, County Sheriff, Supervisor of Assessments, Board of Review, Regional Superintendent of Schools and County Board Members. Precinct Committee persons will be elected at the General Primary Election.

Federal, state and judicial offices will also be on the ballot. Information and necessary forms for those offices may be found on the State Board of Elections' website, www.elections.il.gov. The candidate who receives the highest vote total in each political party for each office in the primary will be on the 2022 General Election ballot.

Materials for new political party candidates and independent candidates will be available after the General Primary Election.

For additional information or if you have any questions, please contact Lindsay Light, Chief Deputy/Supervisor of Elections at 217/554-1911 or via email at ccelections@vermont.org.

Why?

Why doesn't it rain when we need it? Why are people sick? Why can't we be kinder to each other? Why are teens so rebellious? Why doesn't my garden grow better tomatoes? Why can't I lose weight? Why? Why? Why?

Seems like every day, there are more why questions than yes answers. Today may seem like no other day you've had, but just wait a week or two and along comes another why day.

The world has good and bad and I am all for the good. Enjoy the beautiful fall days, get out, even to your porch or patio, and take in the gift of sun, breezes and fall. It's a beautiful world we live in! Why not enjoy it? Take an afternoon off, jump in the car and take a country drive. Look at the crops, food for our table! Wave at the farmers on the tractors making sure everything is just right.

Why this day can be awesome when you call a friend to just chat. What a difference you can make in their ho-hum day! It can be "Why I can do anything I want today." Why this morning you can take some quiet time to read the paper or a favorite book.

Get yourself ready for a great day! Why would it be a great day? Because you will make it a great day! How hard is it really, to be kind to others? Why I find being kind to others helps me more than it helps them. Being kind should always be part of our day. If we have to ask why, we are in trouble. Why not give our best to others?

If you raised a child, you know teen years are tough. Why? I think the most important reason is a teenager wants to be grown up and do what he wants. If they only knew, grown-ups don't get to do whatever they want!

Why can't I lose weight? Two BIG reasons: food and fork. Fried chicken, mashed potatoes, chocolate cake all served on a fork going directly into my mouth! Yes, it's really the fork's fault because I would never eat with my fingers.

Why don't we just make this day wonderful. Why don't we smile more? Why we should just live the best life the best way we can. No need for whys, just smiles and simple joy to be alive!

Letters to the Editor

Thank you, Hoopeston

We would like to thank everyone who participated in the homecoming event for Corey on September 21. The only thing more humbling than seeing all of the people from our community lining Main Street was the thought that 13 families did not have the opportunity to welcome their sons or daughters home.

We have had a couple of events in our lives over the last few years that make us appreciate living in our community. No place is perfect but knowing you have the prayers and support from those around you is priceless.

A special thanks to the Hoopeston Fire and Police Departments, WHPO, Just the Facts, and all of the people who shared information, for their contribution to this special occasion.

Kevin and Kasey Moore and family
