Darren Bailey, one of eight hopefuls running in the Republican gubernatorial primary on June 28, will have a campaign stop at 3 p.m. Friday at the Fireside Event Space in Westville. Bailey is expected to be at the venue for 90 minutes.

School board bars woman from school property for one year

A Hoopeston woman is barred for one year from being on Hoopeston Area property, following a hearing prior to Tuesday night's district board meeting.

Officials said Karla Cassady had a verbal altercation with school staff on February 7, after a call had been made to the Department of Children and Family Services the previous day. Officials said Cassady went to her child's classroom. Once the child was in the hallway, officials alleged, Cassady used profanity in a loud voice, disrupting staff and students in nearby rooms. She then announced she was going to homeschool her children.

That prompted a discussion at the meeting about Illinois homeschool regulations. Supt. Robert Richardson said anyone can homeschool their child at any time and doesn't have to use an accredited program or "any program." Often, children return to school after a year or so and there has "not been any growth or progress made in their learning," he said.

Good news. Rates just got lower.
