Hoopeston Public Library to resume normal pumpkin contest, is getting new digital sign

After two years of changes because of the Covid-19 pandemic, Hoopeston Pubic Library's annual Pumpkin Decorating Contest will return this year with pumpkins on display in the building, and several other fun activities, as well.

Categories will be included for all ages and for families/groups/classes working together to decorate their entry.

Pumpkins for the contest will once again be provided free by the library. The pumpkins are grown locally by library staffer Terri Hambleton and her husband, Mel.

A specific date for distribution has not been set but details are expected to come by the end of September.

In other library news, preliminary work has started for a new digital Watchfire sign that will be placed on the southwest corner of the library property.

The sign will be highly visible to drivers and walkers and will allow staff to update the community on library schedules and programs.

Construction is expected to be completed in October.

Meals to go

Terri Hambleton, foreground, and Chris Newman pack weekend food bags for Maple and John Greer students. The food bags are a new ministry at Hoopeston United Methodist Church. The first packing was held September 22 at the church, which is stocked with various food items that students may take home for the weekend, when breakfast and lunch are not available through the schools, said Pastor Katherine Murphy. Anyone interesting in helping can contact the church office, (217) 283-6738. Donations to continue the ministry may be sent to Hoopeston United Methodist Church, P.O. Box 218, Hoopeston IL 60942.
