No strangers to illnesses, couple to open retreat for health

Sometimes in life, painful experiences can be a catalyst for good.

Jammie and Nikki Wilson, of Hoopeston, are using past experiences with illnesses in their families to create a business dedicated to health.

Jammie has witnessed firsthand the destruction of disease in his family, resulting in the deaths of his parents and first wife, Lori, said Nikkie Wilson, adding she has suffered with migraines for many years, which have been difficult for Jammie to witness.

“As we started doing extensive research for ways to help ourselves find (health), we felt a calling to help others, she said.

The Wilsons have created Healthy Living Retreat LLC, a center that offers natural therapy for overall wellness. The retreat, at 701 S. Market, Suite C, will welcome guests to a grand opening open house from 12-3 p.m. Saturday. Refreshments and light snacks will be served and the couple will give tours and answer questions about their new venture.

Mrs. Wilson listed the services and potential benefits:

Oxygen Bar Therapy, which can be done through a nasal canula or facial mask. Benefits include increased energy levels, improved mood and concentration, reduced stress, relief of headaches and hangovers and promotes better sleep. Oxygen facials increases skin hydration, promoting a boost in collagen, reducing fine lines and acne and providing more even skin tones.

Sessions are available in increments of 10, 20 and 30 minutes. Along with adults, oxygen therapy may be done on children ages six and older, she said.

Salt Room Therapy: Benefits include respiratory health improvement, including relief from asthma, bronchitis, chronic obstructive pulmonary disorder (COPD), cystic fibrosis, sinus issues, respiratory allergies and smoker’s cough. It can relieve certain skin conditions, like eczema and psoriasis; can enhance sleep quality, reduce stress and boost mood and immunity.

Healthy Living will have one- and two-person sessions for salt room therapy, each 45 minutes long. The therapy may be used for children two years and older.

Infrared Sauna: Improved sleep, detoxification, weight loss, relief from sore muscles and joint pain, clearer and tighter skin, improved circulation and providing a boost to the immune system are benefits of the infrared sauna.

One- and two-person sessions are available for either 30 or 45 minutes.

Red Light Therapy: is designed to rejuvenate facial skin, build collagen to reduce wrinkles, repair sun damage, decrease skin inflammation, fade scars and stretch marks, help hair growth, stimulate wound healing, and boost endorphins, which decrease stress and anxiety. It also boosts the immune system and activates the lymphatic system.

One-person sessions are available for 15-minute sessions. Red light therapy is safe for children as long as they can stay still for 15 minutes on their own and keep their eyes covered.

Massage Chair: Boosting the immune system, tissue regeneration, and reducing swelling and water retention are some of the benefits of this service. It also minimizes the appearance of cellulite, air bag compression stimulates the lymphatic system to increase circulation and gives a full body massage for complete relaxation.

One-person 30 minute sessions are offered.

The chair can be used for all ages but has a height requirement of 4’8” to 6’6” and is for people who weigh less than 300 lbs.

Healthy Living Retreat will be open 7 a.m.-7 p.m. Monday-Friday and 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Saturday, with flexible appointment times.

To schedule an appointment, call (217) 474-5379, email healthylivingretreat@yahoo.com. or go online to healthy-living-retreat.square.site.

“Our goal is for the retreat to be a place where people can destress from the world around us and find healthy for themselves,” Mrs. Wilson said.
