CRIS, U of I Extension to offer program on isolation at HPL

CRIS Healthy Aging and the University of Illinois Extension are partnering to reach older adults in the area to discuss social isolation and how to overcome it. A free one-hour program, "Don't Go It Alone: Improving Your Social Connection," will be offered at Hoopeston Public Library at 1 p.m., Thursday, May 23. Studies show that more than 20 percent of adults in the United States feel lonely, isolated, or both. Social isolation and loneliness can have a profound effect on quality of life, especially for older people. Participants in this program will explore various consequences of isolation and loneliness, along with strategies for keeping in touch with others.

Pre-registration is suggested but not required. To be assured of a space, register by calling (217) 283-6711 or stop by the main desk at the library, 110 N. Fourth St..
